

WE NOMINATE

Donald Gabriel Herzberg, one of New Jersey's most articulate and yet eminently practical political scientists, who over the next several months will be carrying forward the intriguing assignment of probing such fundamental questions as "Why do millions of Americans fail to vote?" and "What can be done to encourage more persons to register and to cast their ballots?" From the nation's capital this past week came word that the 38-year old Herzberg, first executive director of the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University and a resident of Princeton since 1958, will serve as director of President Kennedy's Commission on Registration and Voter Participation.

Tucked away in the corner of a General Services Administration Building in Washington, from where he will commute to Princeton and New Brunswick, the New Jersey-born Herzberg and a compact professional staff have from now until November to collect and analyze all available data on this country's registration and voting habits. At a time when President Kennedy and the Democratic National Committee as well as Rockefeller, Goldwater, Romney and Scranton partisans are "toting up" possible national returns, Herzberg will be utilizing the results of the past four national elections to "slip-stick" the phenomena of voter turn-out in selected urban, suburban and rural areas.

Herzberg, who for the past seven years at both Rutgers and Douglass College has been trying to get across to students that "they must become involved in politics and government," has no illusions about his new undertaking and sees that there will be little opportunity to expound scholarly theories. We will be concerned—he stresses—with practical problems: the traditional minority groups, the physically handicapped, the illiterates, the issues raised by registration procedures, the size of political precincts and the way in which the polls are located and policed, and even the question of why only 40 per cent of the qualified voters in the Armed Forces voted in the 1960 presidential contest.

The possibility of "voter fatigue" has occurred to Herzberg who this past year voted in the November General Elections, the winter School Board balloting and the April primaries. "We expect more of our people than most countries in that we want them to turn out more often." From this point, recalling his observations in Israel, where election day has been described as "democracy's coronation day," he notes that voting involves emotion as well as reason and suggests that instead of calling it Election Day we might well make it a real national holiday and call it something like "the Day of Rededication, if that isn't too flowery."

A native of South Orange, N. J., and a member of the Class of 1916 at Wesleyan University, Herzberg taught at both Wesleyan and Syracuse University before gaining some six years of hard-nosed experience. Starting as associate director of the Task Force on Education of Connecticut's "Little Hoover Commission," he administered the State of Connecticut's 500-member Comptroller's Department for some two years, was a Housing Commissioner in Middletown, Conn., held forth from 1951 until 1953 as Legislative Assistant to Senator William Benton (Conn.) and was called to Rutgers in 1956 from his duties as Deputy Director of the Division of the Budget for New York State.

For constantly emphasizing that "Politics Is Your Business," the title of the excellent volume he co-authored in 1960; for seeking to explode such unfortunate stereotypes as "politicians are scoundrels or worse"; for his dedication to the entwined professions of education and the public service; he is our nominee as Fast Move for Wilson Hall. "We underestimated the time of the job because we'd rather be conservative than criticized," said genial Executive Vice-President Robert White of Spencer, White & Prentiss Inc. as he watched his men and machinery deftly ease 3500-ton Woodrow Wilson Hall down the rails to its new location on Monday. The 296-foot move, originally estimated to proceed at a rate of 50 feet a day for six days, was started at 6 a.m. and was completed by 7 p.m. the same day.

"Moving a building like this is somewhat similar to a missile-shoot," Mr. White continued. "Months of preparation and then the blast-off — only in our case a more leisurely rate of propulsion. Still and all, for 38 men, plus equipment, to move a 7,000,000-pound building at a speed of up to 30 feet an hour is quite an accomplishment."

At Mr. White's invitation, TOWN TOPICS' reporter took a short solo ride on the moving structure, temporarily upping the weight to 7,000,176 pounds.

WOODROW WILSON ROLLS FOR BRYN MAWR: Mrs. Lyman Spitzer Jr., alert Bryn Mawr alumna and Prospect Avenue resident, sold window-space tickets at $1 each to eager viewers of Wilson Hall's move on Monday. The building slid within inches of the back door of her home. According to the spur-of-the-moment Bryn Mawr Window Rental Agency, now disbanded, more than $70 was raised for contribution to the college's scholarship fund. Mr. Wilson, at one time a member of the Bryn Mawr faculty, would have approved. (Staff Photo—other picture, page 3.)

but not noticeably slowing the building's progress. The ten-minute, five-foot trip was smooth and produced zero G-factor vertigo.

"Because of the uneven distribution of weight caused by the building's design, there is a tendency for the structure to veer slightly from one side to the other," Mr. White continued. "We compensate for this by 'steering' it with our hydraulic jacks, and we never let it get more than half-an-inch off course."

One a Year Is Enough. Mr. White's firm, which is based in New York, specializes in moving apparently immovable objects and in the construction of heavy building foundations.

tion of heavy building foundations. While people don't shuffle buildings around the way housewives do furniture, one moving job a year the size of the Woodrow Wilson project is enough to keep the organization in good trim.

At that, Wilson Hall wasn't as much of a workout as some of the company's other heave-hos. For example, there was that solid stone monastery up in Canada.

"The building was so heavy," Mr. White said, "that we had to design a special set of tracks to run it on. These tracks were grooved so that we could use ball-bearings. 300,000 of them, to carry the weight instead of the rollers."

State tax on cigarettes and liquor going up . . . From 7 cents to 8 cents a pack for cigarettes on May 31, from about 38 cents to 45 cents a quart for liquor as of June 1 . . . Increase will mean an annual additional $8.5 million filtered from inhales, $3.6 million extra distilled from inhales of spirits . . . Those who prefer a pipe and a spot of port will pay no additional impost for their pleasures.

In addition, the largest bond issue $750 million ever submitted to voters in New Jersey and the biggest appropriations bill ($544 million) in the state's history were approved by the state legislators in their final meeting of the spring session.

The bond issue will be proposed to voters on the November ballot in two separate questions: $475 million for new highways and $275 million for mental and penal institutions and college buildings. (Now let's not have any college student ask what the difference is between them.)

Final approval by the legislature came just under four months after Governor Hughes announced the program . . . It is to be financed by future revenues from the New Jersey Turnpike, the Governor's alternative to a state sales or income tax . . . The legislators also passed a 12.5 per cent surtax on local public utilities, which carries a three-year limitation and which is estimated to produce an additional $13 million . . . Gas, electric, telephone and telephone companies will all catch this increase.

Purpose of the new assessments is part of a $341 million revenue program to balance the state budget.

Forewarned is forearmed, police say that, in the aftermath of April teenage party crashings, several parents have called to notify them when they are having such a party. Crashing rate said to be 'way down.

Last week's weather generally element . . . Especially so on Sunday, when the '80' high and clear skies brought out battalions of mowers, pruners, planters and golfers, most of whom had been restricted to quarters on Saturday by the 66-inch rain and a chill 62° . . . Coldest of the week was Monday the 13th, with a sub-freezing low of 28°.

Monuments are for commemorating, not for climbing . . . University student Paul E. Culley Jr., a freshman, realizes this by now. Culley, for reasons best known to himself, was trying to scale, without pick or pylon, the Battle Monument at the top of Nassau Street last Friday night at about 10 . . . He fell and was taken to the University Infirmary by police, was found to be injured as the result of a cut forehead.

Barbaric Behavior Dept.: Ronald L. Faass, of Jefferson Road, reported on Saturday that some callous elod had smashed the front windshield of his car when it was parked in the Princeton Hospital's parking lot on Franklin Avenue . . . Happened in broad daylight, between 10 and 11:30 a.m. . . Damage estimated at over $100.

Town and gown opinion on whether the five-day jail sentences meted out to two ring-leaders in the May 6 riot were too strict is reflected in "Question of the Week," page 5 . . . A report on the Ivy League coaches' request that unlimited substitutions be permitted in their games as an experiment next fall heads the sports page (27-31), which covers events ranging from baseball and track to sailing, bowling and horse shows.

A service in the University Chapel at which a white and a Negro pastor will speak to underscore efforts toward improved racial relations is the lead story on the church page (32) . . . The death of Father Beckley, widely respected Catholic chaplain at Princeton for many years, is among the obituaries on page 33.

Further repercussions of the riot, which have brought "revenge vandalism" and, in turn, sharp police warnings, are reported in Topics of the Town, as are the initial activities of two new organizations: the Princeton Group on Human Rights and Preservation for Princeton . . . studied and it was decided that the $250,000 moving cost would prove to be a highly worthwhile investment.

The new building designed by Mr. Yamasaki will be 210 feet long with a first-floor ceiling height of 29' 6", not simply for aesthetic reasons, but to accommodate a large auditorium seating 250. The main elements of the exterior facade will be 70 27-foot columns which, in addition to being functional, will give a feeling of lightness and grace to a structure of considerable mass.

To provide adequate area for the new quadrangle the frame structure on Prospect Avenue now occupied by the Department of Astrophysical Sciences will be demolished, in addition to a dwelling and the service

APARTMENTS APPROVED

Golf Is Fine, Too. An eight-story apartment building and a four-hole golf course were approved by the Township Zoning Board Thursday night.

Actually, the four holes are merely the overlapping Township part of the golf course owned by the Princeton Country Club on Route One. Most of the course is in West Windsor.

The eight-story apartment building is the second of the three apartments planned by the University for its Lake Carnegie property. It will be almost identical to the one now there, except that it will have 16 four-bedroom units, which the present building does not have, and will have cantilevered second floors for each of the duplex apartments.

In recommending to Township Committee that the apartments be approved, the Zoning Board neatly side-stepped a legal difficulty which the University brought up at Thursday's hearing.

The zoning ordinance says that, if the Township's costs for providing the apartment with fire protection, schools, police and so on, are more than the institution — in this case, the University — pays in taxes for the apartment, the University must make up the difference.

University spokesmen, Ricardo Mestres and Henry M. Stratton, II, challenged this requirement as "arbitrary and discriminatory", said that it had no place in a zoning ordinance, anyway, and that the University would have to reserve the right to "test its validity."

The Zoning Board recommended approval of the apartments by Township Committee. But, as a condition, it stipulated that the University must comply with this section of the zoning ordinance, and this places the problem squarely on the agenda of Township Committee.

LIBRARY IS APPROVED

But Healy Still Says "No." Unbowed, unmoved and unteamed Maurice F. Healy voted "no" again Monday night on the Wiggins-Witherspoon public library site.

But his fellow Committee-men voted him down, 4-1, and passed the bond issue ordinance appropriating the $53,360 necessary to buy the Township's share of the $92,000 Wiggins Street parking lot. Mr. Healy's previous "no" vote had been on the question of approving the site. He would rather see a public library built in Community Gardens, near Township Hall and the Community Park School.

In a continuous public hearing that lasted an hour and a half, Committee heard Mrs. Ansley Coale, chairman of the library's board of trustees, outline the five criteria used in choosing a site, and then heard various Township residents express disapproval of the site itself, the methods used in choosing it and the library's public relations policy.

The five criteria outlined by Mrs. Coale were:

- Accessibility to the greatest number and variety of users.
- Nearby parking.
- A street level entrance.
- Reasonable cost.
- Immediate availability, so that the library can vacate Bainbridge House as soon as possible.

Unanimous Choice. She told Committee and the audience of 50 that the Wiggins-Witherspoon choice had been unanimous, and she said that it had the approval of the Chamber of Commerce and the Friends of the Public Library.

William Marvel, chairman of the library's site committee; James Richmond, chairman of the building committee, and Robert Palmer, acting chairman of the Friends of the Public Library, spoke in support of Mrs. Coale.

Then B. E. Bergesen, Jr., Crestview Circle, rose for the first of many comments he made in the course of the evening.

"Speaking in my official capacity as a Township taxpayer," he began, "I think the trustees of the library have acted in a cavalier fashion in dismissing Mr. Healy's request for examining other sites."

"We need more explanation, a more complete presentation of the reasons for choosing this site. The library people, a very fine group of people, have said that they consulted experts. Well, I think experts in paying for libraries should have been brought in. We need more 'civilian control' of the experts."

WOODROW WILSON HALL ON THE MOVE: Biggest engineering job in Princeton took place on Monday when Wilson Hall was delicately but firmly pushed 296 feet down a set of 12 tracks to its new location, making way for the construction of a large addition to the Woodrow Wilson School. The job, originally scheduled to take a week, was finished in a day. Picture shows building's progress by about 3 p.m. Propelling the 3,500-ton structure down the rails on rollers were hydraulic jacks, which moved the building five feet at a time before resetting. The jacks were adjusted to keep the hall from veering off course. Story, page one.

Free Site? He cited other municipal needs, such as schools and an addition to the hospital, and asked whether the library trustees couldn't have picked a free site.

"Yes," Mr. Marvel replied. "Community Gardens was thought of as a 'free site,' but we don't really know whether the Township would have given it to us free. And cost was not the only criteria, as Mrs. Coale has shown."

Mr. Marvel denied that the trustees had been "rubber-stamped" by library experts, and said that the experts had been sporadically involved at various times in the site search. He added that two other

Why the new MG B was worth the seven year wait

Here's how ROAD & TRACK Magazine's staff of experts felt about it after putting this button-bright new one through its paces for 700 miles:

"... even Italian and German sports car owners admitted they like to drive this new English job... the quality of workmanship and lack of flaws were remarkable... the windup windows (for the first time) are a great boon... this is the best engineered, best put-together MG we've ever seen."

'Nuff said. MG has, after all, been the most popular sports car in the country all along... by far. But it's good to know this first completely new MG speedster in seven years is still supreme.

er rejected sites would have cost three times as much as the parking lot.
Miss Helen Fairbanks, 70 Valley Road, protested the library's reticence on the other sites, and suggested that the public should have been told about them. Mr. Richmond retorted that public discussion of all 12 sites under consideration would have meant chaos.

A Library Is to Use. "The use a library gets is more important than a free site," observed Mrs. William Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue. "If the library were built in Community Gardens, it would take away recreation space which we'd have to make up by buying elsewhere, so how can you say Community Gardens is free?"

When the question of building cost came up, Mr. Richmond said that, based on a 1980 population of 40,000, and $25 per square foot, the new library would cost about $750,000 for building and furnishings. He added that the library hoped for memorial gifts from individuals to supply much of the $100,000 required for furnishings.

Mrs. Coale and Committee-man Healy engaged in a debate about the Wiggins site. Mr. Healy maintained that, with Nassau Street School, Princeton Country Day and Miss Fine's about to move and existing Township schools far away anyway, the Wiggins site wasn't going to be much use to school children.
He said a survey had shown

May Wine?
I like my weekends
Served up dry,
With sparkling sun
And vintage sky.
—DEW-ON-THE-ROCKS

Dry and cool is the general formula these days—of late, the temperature has been averaging somewhat below normal and despite last weekend's rain, precipitation also falls into that category.
The thermometer will move slowly upward in the next few days, the Man reports. He also has another thought that won't sit well with weekend worshippers: rain is likely again about Saturday.

That three out of four people came to the library by car so that an uptown location was not really necessary. He said that, if 58 percent of the library's Princeton users did indeed live in the Township, then the Wiggins site was inaccessible to those 58 percent.

Where to Park. "Parking is a horrendous thought," he stated. "This building, built on a parking lot, will take away a great many spaces."
He continued to maintain that information given him by the library trustees on their reasons for choosing the site was unsatisfactory.

Mrs. Coale reminded Mr. Healy that purchase of the La-hiere-Kane property on Spring Street will make up for the lost parking spaces. She said that the trustees thought of "going to the library" as part of an expedition which would also include shopping, banking and the like, probably undertaken with children on a Saturday or a late afternoon when children were out of school.

William Dix, 94 McCosh Circle, pointed out that his part of the Township is nowhere near Community Gardens, and he backed up Mrs. Coale's statement that library visits are combined with "heart-of-the-community" trips.

Entice Them In. Replying to Mr. Healy's statements about a survey, Mrs. Coale repeated that the survey in question was highly informal, completely voluntary and "unofficial." She read a letter from Mrs. John Lasley, who had composed the survey in which Mr. Lasley said, "No decision should be based solely on an opinion survey among library users."

Repeatedly, supporters of the Wiggins site spoke of the need to "entice" both children and adults to the library by having it easily accessible, although Mr. Bergesen, who opposed the site, said he thought it would entice children more if it were closer to schools.

Another multiple speaker was Mrs. Arthur Keiser, 244 Edgerstone Road, who quoted several times from studies made by Joseph Wheeler, Princeton resident and library expert. Mr. Wheeler's studies have convinced him that a library away from the center of Quoting one of Mr. Wheeler's most pertinent remarks, considering the tenor of the hearing, Mrs. Keiser read: "The trustees will have to spend more time and energy answering questions and resisting pressure than on any other aspect of the project."

BACK TO NEAR NORMAL.
As Riot Aftermath Closes.
A dolorous chapter in the usually pleasant history of Princeton campus and community relationship neared an end this past week as both University and Borough meted out penalties to those charged with participation in the undergraduate riot of May 6. At the same time, the University's discipline committee asked for a voluntary effort among all participants in the rioting to raise by individual subscription the estimated $5,500 needed to pay for the damages that occurred.
Thirteen students, arrested by Borough police, who either pleaded guilty or were convicted as being guilty of disorderly behavior during the riot received sentences from Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. at a special session of the court Thursday morning. Because of Magistrate Tams' calmly painstaking effort to hear all of the relevant evidence in each case (while still keeping the irrelevant and potentially irritating to a minimum), the sentencing session lasted more than two hours.

After taking testimony from eight who had originally pleaded guilty and giving each of the five others full opportunity to present any further evidence on the charges of which they had been convicted, Magistrate Tams gave the following sentences:
• Sophomore Ronald E. Burns, 19, and Freshman Daniel A. Per-Lee, 18, were given five days in the Borough jail. They received jail sentences in lieu of fines because they were

Question of the Week

Question: Two of the University students arrested for the May 6 riot were given five-day jail sentences. Do you think this was too harsh?

Where asked: Around town

Mrs. Robert C. Bushnell, 224-C Eisenhower Street, secretary: No, I don't because I think they were entirely too destructive. It reached a point beyond being fun.

Mrs. Gloria Buntrock, Highway 206, secretary: No, I really don't. I feel it went too far, destroying property and that sort of thing. Some of their pranks were funny, but they carried it too far.

Mrs. Lynn Nabers, Butler Avenue, housewife: No, not a bit. I read your previous article and it seems to me the students always want to blame the administration. Graduate students have it just as rough and they never riot. I don't think there was any excuse for it.

Mrs. Denver Ulery, 53 Maple Street, housewife: In place of a jail sentence I think it might have been better to make them go around town and repair the damage they did. Let them finish their studies but then keep them here two weeks longer and make them pay their room and board. It might humble them a little bit more.

Michael Pano, IV, Class of '64, Blair Hall: I think that these students should have been punished either by the University or either by the town but not by both. They are in the town only as members of the University. Therefore, as in the case of the army, when a soldier in a foreign country is subject to disciplinary action, it is handled by the army or by local civilian authorities but not by both. This "double jeopardy" is unfair.

Robert Clarke, Class of '65, Holder Hall: No, I don't think so. I don't think they realize the seriousness of the situation: the damage, the potential danger to lives. The students say maybe they should have just fined them but I feel a fine would not serve as the right penalty; it's not a deterrent to future riots. Kids in 1970 will be out in the streets. Something will have to be done to stop them. That's the biggest problem. Next time it could easily be twice as many students and twice the damage.

Gardner Green, Class of '63, Blair Hall: I think the entire thing was fairly ridiculous from the standpoint of the town officials, the University authorities and the undergraduates. Yes, I think it was too harsh. But I'm not as vehement about that as I am about the whole situation. It certainly didn't accomplish very much.

Robert Brown, Class of '64, 1939 Hall: No, I don't. I sort of sympathize with the rioters but getting caught was one of the misfortunes of the whole affair. It is undeniable there was some violence and damage, but this wasn't the spirit of the thing, it wasn't started with that intent. As a measure to prevent such actions in the future, it is necessary to punish rather harshly those who carried things beyond what should have been normal bounds.

Dennis Fowler, Class of '63, 1903 Hall: No, I don't. I think they fully deserve it. If they were stupid enough to go out and riot in the first place and happened to get caught, they deserve what they got. I personally don't approve of riots and I've stayed out of them for four years. I don't believe in going around and causing people a lot of trouble.

Leon A. Vanderwater, Carroll Street, Trenton, retired carpenter: No, I don't think it was enough. If someone from the town did anything like that, they'd be sentenced to the County Workhouse in five minutes. Probably get fined, too. It's happened to me before.

Miss Mary McNally, Theological Seminary student: No, I feel pretty strongly about due process of law and if the court feels this was the proper punishment, I would agree.

THIS WEEK AT THE NEW STRAND

THURS.-SAT., May 23-25.
Two fine French films. In their original language of course. CLEO FROM 5 TO 7 describes the thoughts, fancies and events of two hours in the life of a beautiful young Parisienne played by Corinne Marchand. Appropriately enough, this film was directed by a woman, Agnes Varda. The other film on this bill is THE LOVERS, starring Jeanne Moreau as a bored, restless rich woman who suddenly and unaccountably falls in love with a stranger and runs away with him. THUR., FRI. 8:30, Lovers first, SAT. Cleo at 7 and 10:10, Lovers 8:35 only.

SUN.-TUES., May 26-28.
Two films about impotence. BELL'ANTONIO stars Marcello Mastroianni as a young man unable to consummate his marriage with Claudia Cardinale, which makes it seem like a pretty serious case. In the second film, BROTHER OF A BOY, the impotence is filial, with Barry Fitzgerald playing an octogenarian who is lured by his father. SUN.; Antonio at 6:30 and 10, Boy at 8:20 only, MON.-TUES. 8:30 Boy first.

WED., MAY 29. We celebrate Decoration Day with the return engagement of Lawrence Olivier's HENRY THE FIFTH. One performance only 8:30 p.m. Come early and get a good seat. If you are on our mailing list and are going away for the summer, please let us know. Otherwise your mailers will be returned here, and your name removed.

News Of The THEATRES

LEO COHEN ELECTED

To Head Community Players, Leo J. Cohen of Lawrence Township has been elected president of the Princeton Community Players Club, Inc. for next season. An active player for many years, he appeared as the football alumnus in "The Male Animal" last fall and as the bearded philanthropist in "The Drunkard" last summer.

Also named are Eric M. Jaques, vice-president, production; E. Parker Haydon Jr., vice-president, production; Sylvia Fontijn, vice-president, membership; Sally D. Warnock, secretary, and Irving Van Zandt Jr., treasurer. The new officers constitute the executive committee.

New members of the board of 15 trustees are John Drury, Mrs. Fontijn, Mrs. Warnock, Mr. Cohen and Mr. Haydon, elected to three-year terms.

PLAYHOUSE

I Could Go On Singing (now playing) Here's Judy Garland again, singing her heart out. The plot throws no undue burden on the mind, but Judy is given able support by Dirk Bogarde, as a prominent British surgeon who is the father of her child, if not her husband, and a most engaging youngster, Gregory Phillips, who is the 13-year-old son. There's also Albie MacMahon, cast as the devoted maid, and Jack Klugman as Judy's manager.

Judy, as a world-famed singing star on tour, reaches London, contrives to see Bogarde, and pleads that she be allowed to visit their son at school. He exacts a repeal of her original promise to tell the boy nothing. The youngster and his mother take a shine to each other, but complications ensue when the boy accidentally learns the truth.

There are beautiful scenes in color of London and the British countryside, a schoolboy performance of "H.M.S. Pinafore" which is a real treat, and of course, Judy on stage at the famed London Palladium. Comment: tumultuous documentary.

MORE AND MORE PEOPLE are finding more and more items are sold, traded and found through the classified pages of TOWN TOPICS. Why not use this convenient, easy way? No discount prices (just $1.25 for 30 words) but more potential customers reached! WA 4-2200

GARDEN

The Four Days of Naples (thru Sat.) This is an Italian film (English sub-titles) which mirrors a phase of the resistance movement which swept through Italy in the closing days of the Italian campaign. Its greatest impetus is said to have come from the action of the people of Naples during the four days from September 28 through October 1, 1943.

After Mussolini had been eliminated and the Allied forces were moving toward the city, the Neapolitans rebelled against the Nazi occupation forces, destroying installations and wreaking havoc. Their guerrilla-like attacks on the Germans came to a climax in the battle of the stadium in a mob scene of great intensity.

There is some controversy over this film. Some groups maintain that only a few hundred persons were actually involved, others declare that the film does not go far enough in extolling the patriotic uprising.

Two players stand out: Domenico Formoso, as a youngster who attaches himself to a group of reform school escapees, and Gian Maria Volonte, as an Italian Army captain with an artificial hand who leads the main group of embattled citizens. Comment: tumultuous documentary.

Now On Sunday (Sun. thru Tues.) This English dialogue, filmed-in-Greece comedy was one of the winners of 1960. Melina Mercouri emerged as an international star through her role as a Greek lady of easy virtue.

Extremely funny and sophisticated, the story concerns the efforts of an American tourist, Jules Dassin, to make Miss Mercouri give up her "career" for intellectual pursuits. The consternation of her friends, the housing strike put on by her "co-workers," the episodes at the Greek theatre and along the waterfront at Piraeus are all handled with a light touch. Comment: adult laughs.

PRINCE

Nine Hours to Rama (now playing) poses and seeks an answer to the question of why a young man of character became dedicated to the assassination of Mahatma Gandhi, a man beloved by millions of his people for his unselfish motives.

The young assassin is played effectively by Horst Buchholz, J.S. Casshyap achieve a notable impersonation of Gandhi, and Jose Ferrer is excellent as the superintendent of police who is devoted to Gandhi but is unable to guard his life.

It is a big, colorful, broad-canvas production, filmed in the streets of Delhi amid the teeming bustle of its natives, where cattle roam unmolested for religious reasons, and the problems of over-population and poverty contrast with the grandeur of the wealthy.

There are three women concerned in the events leading to the assassination: the child bride of Buchholz's early youth, a prostitute who hides him from the police, and the beautiful and wealthy young married woman who loves him. Comment: The story develops slowly, but it is probably the most realistic picture of life in a great city of India that has ever been filmed.

NEW STRAND

Two modern French films, "Cleo From Five To Seven," starring Corinne Marchand, and "The Lovers," starring Jeanne Moreau, will be presented from Thursday through Saturday, Marcello Mastroianni, star of "La Dolce Vita" and "Divorce Italian-Style" will be featured Sunday through Tuesday in "Bell'Antonio," a serious study of marital impotence. The Abbey Players of Dublin and Barry Fitzgerald round out the double bill in "Broth of a Boy."

One performance only of Lawrence Olivier's version of "Henry V" is set for 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, May 29. Olivier leads a veritable army of famous stage and screen players in this acclaimed film rendition of the Shakespearean classic.

IT'S NEW To Us

FOR GRADUATION
New Admiral Transistor. For high-impact June graduates, we suggest the new Admiral transistor radio and its high-impact carrying case. You may buy both at Gordon Radio Service, 221 Witherspoon.

This new American-made Admiral will play on regular house current or on its own battery, so it's really two radios in one. Not only that, it recharges the battery itself, up to 15 times its normal life. (This is a stock battery, available in any store.)

When we watched a demonstration, Mr. Gordon inserted the battery, then plugged the radio into a socket. We heard a memorable commercial. In the middle of it, Mr. Gordon removed the battery, and the radio kept right on playing, without missing a single commercial beat.

If you leave the battery in turn the radio off and plug it into a socket, the battery will recharge. Priced no higher than the imports, the American-made Admiral starts at $16.95, and comes in a handsome gift case with carrying case and earphones.

Then there are three FM models for less than $49.95, all with automatic frequency control, ease and AC charger.

The printed circuit board has a five-year warranty. You can frame it next to the diploma.

SLIP ON A SHIFT

After a Swim. People like Cole of California and Rose Marie Reid of — well, wherever she's from — like to expand the bathing suit market as much as they possibly can. Which is probably why they invented nylon stretch. However, that's neither here nor there.

What we're getting at is the collection of Cole and Rose Marie bathing suit shifts, if that's what they're called, now on view at Ann Stanley, in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Cole has a print that's visible for 50 nautical miles on a clear day. It's royal, lime, turquoise and white in Great Big flowers. There is a dupped knee bow on each side, considerably above the knee.

Rose Marie goes suave with an arnel jersey shift in tropical pastels. There's also, from another house, a white broadcloth with buttons down the side and narrow red and white piping wherever piping seems to be in order: around the neck and armholes, for example.

Sandals from John Romain could go on the beach, but are much too attractive to be subjected to all that sand. They are contour-soled mahogany leather in two styles: one with a triangular piece covering the instep, the other with two broad straps binding the instep. Price: $7.95.

Ann Stanley's contribution to a hot sunny day is a group of hats whose general air of solemnity may be gauged by

A Better Short Story

Distressed — not to the point of insomnia or anything like that, but still de-tranquilized — by the unbefitting horizontal dividing lines presented by a Princeton matron wearing Bermudas and shirt in the summertime, Laurie Vance Johnson of The Money Tree has an idea.

She thinks women ought to wear tennis dresses. These one-piece garments are designed with a single flowing line that flows even though the particular dress is belted, and Mrs. Johnson thinks this single stroke of the pen is infinitely more becoming than those shorts and shirts.

In her collection of Townway Tennis dresses (this firm makes only tennis clothes, as you know), there are cotton piques in princess lines, orlon jerseys with little pleats and all kinds of other styles. One has tennis socks in an attached envelope. All are stunningly white. Get out your tan and see how well it matches.

the little white number that has eight inches of white straw fringe, a witch's crown and straw berries — all right: strawberries — around the brim.

There is another, in that soft, coarsely woven straw, with a turned up brim like the kind you see on Mexican bookends, a brim so deep it could serve as a cistern for rainwater.

er. Inside this brim is a little collection of brightly colored pine cones. The hat is a roaring yellow.

On the dress rack, we found Jonathan Logan's waffle pique in white with tomato red and blood orange flowers and shoe-string straps. Royal blue roses on white look cool for summer. The shoulders are built up on this one, the fabric is a mock linen.

Ladybug has a print which looks like Liberty, and a demure style that looks most appealing and little-girlish. The dress has a round neck, unpressed pleats and a rope belt. We saw it in a quiet blue print with blue belt.

A sleeveless hopsacking shift has a steel blue print like an 18th century drawing. There is a triangular scarf to match, deeply and thickly fringed with the natural color of the background. Another striking dress has vertical stripes of pink, purple, aqua and green, with unusual gathers at the neckline, like a doll's dress, and reglan cap sleeves. The belt is a shoestring.

While Slag stirs up mix-and-match combinations based on a clear light blue and white. A classic blazer in light-weight white poplin has a blue and white stripe semi-turtle neck pullover and light blue clamdiggers to match.

WHERE'S YOUR CREDIT?
Not "How's" — "Where's"? The gentleman burdened with credit cards will find surcease from care in Money Tree's new leather wallet. It has a special

Question Of The Week

With his ruling I'm sure the students were competently defended by lawyers.

William Hendrickson, 86 Jefferson Road, graduate student. If those two were the only leaders, I feel it was justified, but I have my doubts they got all the necessary people. I do feel the riot was unnecessarily destructive.

Mrs. Lena Collins, Trenton, secretary for Kai Soderman Insurance, 341 Nassau Street. No, I don't think it was too harsh. I think it might teach them a lesson.

Thomas C. Parker, Ewingville, lab technician, Union-Camp, Princeton Pike. I really do feel it was too harsh. I figure students have to let off some steam once in a while. It wasn't done withfully; it was all in good spirit. I was young myself once.

Robert Faux, Class of '64, Blair Hall. No, I don't think it is going to ruin their prospects of a future career. They aren't going to be labeled as criminals by society, although people in the future—and possibly employers—will ask them why they participated in the riot. I think it will give them a little time to think about it.

Lewis Engle, Class of '64, Foulke Hall. My immediate reaction is, yes, it was too harsh. I'm not sure of the motivation behind this kind of treatment but I have a feeling the riot has been blown out of proportion—and I think what you are doing is an indication of this. I suppose it is justice, but it doesn't sound right to me.

John Redpath, Class of '64, Holder Hall. Yes, I tend to think it was a little too harsh. I wasn't at the riot but I have a feeling that people are taking it a little too seriously.

Keller Kline, Class of '63, Laughlin Hall. No, I don't. I seriously feel it was more than just a demonstration in good fun. There was too much damage, too much going on for it to be classified as spring fever. A five-day jail sentence should make it evident that you just can't blatantly disobey the law. If you compare this to the Birmingham situation where they are demonstrating for equality and they are getting jailed and beaten and the excuse the police use to jail them is that they are part of a mob. So I can't understand how a mob action here could be dismissed as nothing more than spring fever.

George Hall, Class of '65, Holder Hall. No, I think it's a good thing because I think they got what they deserved. The only thing that bothers me is if it were a group of Negro kids from Trenton that had busted up the town—kids 20 years old—they would probably be sent to jail for 20 years. In that respect, I think they got off easy. It's such an infraction of town law that the dual punishment they got—being jailed by the town and suspended by the University—was justified.

Dan O'Leary, Class of '65, Holder Hall. I think it isn't consistent with the attitude of the town and the police. They were not treated in a mature, legal way, but they were punished in a mature, legal way. At the start, the police viewed it in a humorous light; they were joking and smiling. Then they realized the potential danger of the thing ahead. I admit it was a very mature thing to do but punishing a few individuals ignores the reason for rioting. I sat through the trial for seven hours. It was ludicrous. They were judged guilty before it started, in all but one case. They weren't given a fair, legal chance because it wasn't a legal situation. They were tried under criminal law and I don't think it was a criminal thing. It wasn't something malicious. Ramblunetious, but not malicious, not at all. Dumping rubbish to me seems boisterous. Some of them were punished very severely. Reasonably, they should punish us all. This follows rationally since about 700 admitted they had as much to do with it as those who were tried.

Steven Kaplan, Class of '65, Holder Hall. Yes, I think it was too severe. The intentions and the activities of the riot were harmless. I don't think a few should be made the scapegoats in order to teach the undergraduate body a lesson, in general.

We like Money Tree's unaccompanied zipper travel bag for men, serenely empty so that it can take a man's personal belongings, even if that means just a sandwich. The leather is otter, the waterproof inside is a cheerful yellow to brighten up that dingy hotel room. This is a small bag, you understand; the kind you take razors and things in. Not a two suiter.

People who have prescription sunglasses will like Money Tree's two snap-together glasses cases. Left eye, right eye?

Long shifts for at-home are made especially for the Money Tree from soft, pliable cottons in dark, hatik-like colors. The patterns and geometric designs are matched in adroit ways, and you'll enjoy examining the workmanship and the creative way of handling the fabric. Almost one-of-a-kind.

You wait three months, but it's worth the wait. Order now, for fall or Christmas, a sweater or skirt hand-knit in Sweden. On display at The Money Tree is a black and white skirt in fabulous Scandinavian geometric design (you may combine any of 50 different colors). There are many sweater styles, for men and women. We saw a long, turtle-neck pull-over in a truly awesome Northern Lights pattern. What a splendid Christmas present!

Babar, Winnie-the-Pooh, Alice, Peter Rabbit, Mother Goose and some circus animals have been used for a portfolio of children's room decorations. Choose your character. Then take home his portfolio, peel off the back as you do for a contact paper, and slap him on the wall. The characters are done in character, so to speak with a wide variety in artistic style.

Before you leave, ask to see the "His" "Hers" pink lustre coffee cups, dating from 1885. Land o' Goshen! You can tell which is "hers"; it's the one with the mustache holder.

judged to be quite evidently among the leaders and, as Magistrate Tams pointed out, without leadership the rioters might have disbanded sooner. They started to serve their terms Friday morning at 7.
• Senior Marshall T. Morgan, 20, and Sophomores Howard M. Snyder, 19, and Serre A. Murphy, 19, were each fined the maximum $40 and $10 court costs. In addition, Snyder received a suspended sentence of five days in jail.

Others Fined. Seven undergraduates were fined $15 and $10. They are Seniors William R. Everdell, 21, and John M. Rediker, 21; Junior John M. Green, 20; Sophomore class vice president Bryan G. Tahler, 20, and Sophomores Stephen P. Fischman, 18, and Gary L. Taylor, 19, and Freshman Graham G. Berry Jr., 18.

One undergraduate, Woodrow Wilson Society President Kenneth A. Perko, a 20-year-old junior, was fined $5 and $10 court costs.

University disciplinary action included suspending 47 undergraduates for varying lengths of time based on the seriousness of their offenses committed the night of the riot. According to a statement by Dean of Students William D. Lippincott, 11 undergradu-

A TRIO OF TIGER LILIES: These young gardeners belong to the Princeton Tiger Lilies, a 4-H Club and Junior Garden Club sponsored by the Dogwood Garden Club of Princeton. All won awards in the recent Dogwood Show. As Tiger Lilies, they study and practice gardening, arranging, nature study and conservation under the green thumb of Mrs. James Robinson. ates have been suspended for a year, 15 have been given indefinite suspensions and placed on disciplinary probation through June 1964 and 21 have been given indefinite suspensions without official probation.

In addition, 644 undergraduates, all signers of a petition admitting participation in the riot, will have notes to that effect entered on their records.

A Few Suffer for Many. In announcing the action taken against the undergraduates by the University's discipline committee, Dean Lippincott said:

"The committee regrets that it has not been possible to identify those who may have been some of the worst offenders. It recognizes that a few students are bearing a punishment which might well have been accorded to many."

He added that, while the discipline committee acknowledges the good intent of those participants in the riot who signed the petition, "at the same time, we must recognize that words of apology are relatively easy. Those who have voluntarily admitted responsibility for participation in the riot cannot be absolved entirely of that responsibility."

Dean Lippincott said that, if the voluntary effort to raise the $5,500 for paying for damages should take place, a general assessment against all undergraduates would be reduced accordingly.

"Should a voluntary subscription not only raise sufficient money to cancel the need for fines but produce a surplus, in the judgment of the committee it would be most fitting if this surplus were donated to the Princeton United Community Fund," the dean continued. "If no such voluntary program of restitution for damages develops, or insofar as it falls short, the discipline committee will be obliged to consider other alternatives. This matter is now in the hands of the undergraduate council."

Uncalculated Risk. Despite some complaint that a comparative few were being harshly punished for the misbehavior of many, The Daily Princetonian, undergraduate newspaper, stated in an editorial that: "To say that because everyone was guilty those people disciplined were less guilty is to confuse the meaning of guilt. Everyone who participated in the riot in effect 'paid his money and took his chance.' Those who were not aware of the odds or who perhaps ignored them are to be pitied but not absolved."

The Princetonian concluded: "The May 6 riot has been an extremely trying, disheartening and destructive experience — for President Goheen, for the deans, for the undergraduates." And, it might well be added, for the townspeople of Princeton, most particularly for the members of the police force, who did their best to quell the disorder without once resorting to the use of strong-arm methods.

"It is time for those of us who gave up part of ourselves in the riot and its aftermath to recover our perspective of reality," said the newspaper. Far from being vindictive or hostile in attitude, the consensus of opinion among townspeople is that this recovery is on its way and that it's time to write "finis" to the unhappy episode.

PRINCETON BOY FINED
In Antioch College Protest. Yellow Springs, O. home of Antioch College has a population of about 4,000 — and only one barber shop. Barber Lewis Gegner, it is reported, found himself with a peaceful anti-discrimination demonstration outside his door Saturday because he refused to cut the hair of Negro students at Antioch, contending that he does "not know how."

Jonathan B. Morey, 18-year-old Antioch freshman and a Princeton resident, was among the 18 white Antioch students who questioned Mr. Gegner's purported lack of tonsorial ability. The protest ended when the group, after entering the shop, refused to leave when bidden and Mr. Gegner had them arrested for unlawful trespassing. Mr. Morey was fined $50 for taking part in the protest, paid the fine from money he had made as Antioch correspondent for the Toledo Blade.

Clues: This was the year that Dr. Walter Reed and his associates began their campaign to wipe out yellow fever. Total automobile production for this model's year was 4,192 vehicles. The brothers whose name this car bears started experimenting with motor vehicles in 1897. They were carriage makers by trade. This make of car is still in production today.

Clues: The first car of this manufacturer was demonstrated in 1894 as part of a July Fourth parade and celebration. It bears the name of its designer. The car went out of production in 1925. The year of the model shown was the year Henry Ford introduced his famous "Model T" and brought forth the first production model with left-hand steering.

Attention, Parents

To The Editor of Town Topics:

Now that the boys have all been soundly whipped and sent to their rooms, let's take a look at ourselves, Big Daddies . . . and Mommies.

When a man instigates a scandalous breach of the peace by hiring thugs to procure evidence, we are titillated, entertained . . . but no one raises public voice against that man, and the community brings no charges.

When parents stop in at a liquor store to buy a bottle for sonny who, poor dear, is not old enough under the silly law, then hand the bottle to him immediately outside the store "Have a good time, dear . . ." — we pass on with no sense of shock.

When the boys keep supplies of liquor handy in their rooms, for casual daily drinks, we do not grieve; we say that young men must learn to "drink like gentlemen" . . . that is, where it doesn't show too much.

Not far away, a community has thrice risen in hooligan frustration to beat down a school bond issue which would enlarge a high school now on double session and soon to go on triple session. The harm done to the community is incalculable, but who will deny the taxpayer-dad his God-given right to cut off his own nose? So long as he doesn't spill the garbage.

Students are adjured to observe decorum, in the name of Birmingham — and of all the other stations on the way to Golgotha? When some of us were very young, we were told that the rain is tears shed by angels over the naughtiness of some little boy or girl. At least we believed the rain was a very local shower for our very local naughtiness.

When there is no weeping over the local ghetto, how many whiteboys will straighten up and fly right because of the rain of terror over Birmingham?

Behave yourselves, boys! Your rowdy, senseless burst of impulse reminds us of our own shoddy sins and we must therefore beat you for our pain.

Dawn lads, down! You'll be daddies by and by! And wallow in righteous indignation . . . and threaten others with the rain.

Of such is the kingdom of heaven.

FRANCIS X. NULTY
River Road, Belle Mead

Statement Amended.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the course of an interview over the phone on Monday, May 13, in regard to the Birmingham situation, I said something to the effect that the Church on the upper reaches of its leadership had not offered its good services to alleviate the crisis. I did not say nor did I mean to imply that the "churches had done nothing." That would have been patently untrue.

I am sorry for this misunderstanding and would appreciate it if you would print a correction. Thank you.

"to stop the foolishness and return to your studies." The police warned they will request that maximum penalties be issued if the student harassment continues.

Lieutenant Francis J. Maguire reported that the maximum penalty of $1000 or a year in jail or both will be requested at the scheduled court hearing Monday of two University seniors who were apprehended after allegedly stealing "exit" and "entrance" signs from posts in front of the Borough Hall. The two students, Dennis H. Grubbs and,

David S. Gordon, both 21, both of 322 Cuyler Hall, are presently free of $25 bail.

They were arrested Saturday morning at 3:30 by Sergeant Randolph Applegate and Patrolman Arthur Jackson who were on patrol. The officers reported that the students appeared to be hiding something under their coats. When they asked them to stop, they said the students ran. They reported that one sign was surrendered by one of the students; the other was behind a stone wall on University Place where it had been hidden by the second student.

The two were charged with malicious mischief and injury to private property. The maximum fine under this state statute is $1000 and a year in jail or both.

13 Meters Smashed. Thirteen parking meters were wantonly smashed over the weekend, supporting, police said, their belief that it was another act of premeditated retaliation. In no case, was the coin box rifled, said administrator Robert F. Mooney.

Most of the damaged meters were located on Nassau Street in front of Holder Hall. The remainder were in front of Lahiere's Restaurant on Witherspoon Street and next to the Western Union office. Mr. Mooney reported that it appeared that a small sledge hammer or similar heavy instrument was used in the vandalism.

Once the heavy plexiglass meter window was smashed, the vandals wrecked the delicate timing mechanism. One meter head was knocked completely off its stand. The Borough estimates the damage at $300.

Another incident occurred at 3:20 Friday morning. A brick was thrown through a three-foot glass front window section of Renwick's Restaurant, 50 Nassau Street. The missile also broke a neon sign and a 2x8-foot glass pastry display window.

No estimate of the damage was immediately available from the owner. A night watchman for Palmer Square, Inc. reported that he had seen a young man run through the archway of Holder Hall at the time of the incident.

"We will go along with the statement that the student riot was a spontaneous uprising and not premeditated," said Lt. Maguire. "But any subsequent act we will consider premeditated. And if the culprits are apprehended, we will recommend that the maximum penalty be given in each and every case."

PERKINS TO RESIGN

As School Principal, William D. Perkins, principal of Community Park School, has resigned to become assistant superintendent of a school system in Massachusetts. His resignation was accepted with regret by the Township Board of Education at its regular meeting last Thursday.

YOUR CARPET QUESTIONS

I plan to take up my winter rugs for the summer. What would you suggest to put down for an inexpensive summer rug that will stand hard use? One made of sisal. It is not expensive when you buy it, but if you figure the wear against the replacement costs of others, it then becomes inexpensive.

New Low in Bad Taste

Boorish follow-up to disciplinary action taken against those involved in the May 6 undergraduate riot was the hanging in effigy of President Goheen, which took place last Thursday at about 2 a.m.

The figure, suspended from a tree on Prospect Street between Campus and Tower Clubs, wore blue jeans, a white Princeton sweatshirt and a pair of moccasins. The identifying letters "BOGO" were painted on the front of the shirt, and on the back was a .8, the president's enviable scholastic average at Princeton.

Two signs were hung from the form: "When in doubt, kick him out" and an awkward paraphrasing of one of the president's statements, "Ask not what you can do for your university, but what you can do to the university."

The first time that such an act has been perpetrated at Princeton, the tasteless gesture was brought to a conclusion within a few hours when Borough police removed the effigy.

News Of The CHURCHES

JOINT SERVICE PLANNED

In Chapel Wednesday. Two Birmingham clergymen, one white and one Negro, will conduct a worship service here next Wednesday, May 29, at the invitation of the Princeton Pastors' Association. The "Service of Reconciliation and Intercession" will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the University Chapel.

Both men have taken an active role in efforts to bring about harmony in Birmingham. The Rev. Lucius Pitts, a Negro and president of Miles College, was a member of the Negro group which worked out the recent truce agreement with representatives of the white community.

The Rev. Dr. Alva Gregg, pastor of Birmingham's Second Presbyterian Church, is president of the Interracial Brotherhood of the Clergy and city chaplain of the Greater Birmingham Ministers' Association. According to the Rev. Robert P. Montgomery of the Westminster Foundation, Dr. Gregg "has probably done more than any other white person to keep the channels of communications open between the Negro and the white."

Arrangements made by the Rev. Mr. Montgomery and the planning committee include a procession of lay leaders, clergymen and choir from the Princeton churches. A special offering will be received to be taken by the visiting ministers back to Birmingham to promote racial harmony. The Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel, of First Presbyterian Church, is president of the Pastors' Association.

In a telegram sent to President Pitts and Dr. Gregg, the Pastors' Association explained what they have in mind for the service.

"Our invitation is based on the deep conviction that the various members of the Body of Christ in the United States must seek ways of speaking with and to each other, and also must find distinctively Christian methods of demonstrating our common predicament in the midst of racial troubles and of showing the means of grace available to us as members of the common household of faith.

"What we are seeking and hope for is your own words of testimony, insight and advice, grounded in your own experience. We are not simply trying to provide a forum for debate of the Birmingham affair. Indeed, the whole point of the service is manifest—that, although each of us serves in a different set of circumstances, we need to work together on common problems."

ELECTION HELD

By United Church Women. The United Church Women elected new officers at the May Fellowship Day luncheon.

Named to three-year terms are Mrs. Lewis B. Cuyler of Trinity Episcopal Church, vice-president; Mrs. David Taylor of Witherspoon Presbyterian, treasurer; Mrs. A. Roland Main of First Presbyterian, chairman of Church World Missions; Mrs. John Larson, Princeton Methodist, in charge of "The Church Woman" magazine; Mrs. Robert Wright of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. and Mrs. James Howan, Second Presbyterian, nominating committee. Mrs. Harry A. Hill, chairman of the Summer Camp Fund, reported that 16 boys and girls enjoyed a total of 48 weeks of camp last summer. The project, now in its fourth season, raised $550 last year.

TO CELEBRATE SHAVUOT

At Jewish Center. Eleven members of the confirmation class will be confirmed at 8:15 p.m. next Wednesday, May 29, as part of the Shavuot holiday observances at the Princeton Jewish Center. Shavuot, the Feast of Weeks, is held in celebration of the barley harvest in Israel. It especially commemorates the revelation at Mt. Sinai establishing the covenant between God and the children of Israel.

Confirmants are: Alan J. Bernardt, Sondra S. Bogdonoff, Judith R. Epstein, Lynn M. Goldsmith, Jill Maze, Alan Y. Medvin, Mare J. PoKempner, Claudia J. Rost, Rita S. Sherman, Roger S. Staum and Ann L. Winters.

Shavuot opens on Tuesday with the Tikkun service from midnight to 1 a.m. and closes next Thursday with the 10 a.m. Shavuot-Yizkor service.

No replacement has been chosen. Dr. John J. McKenna, Jr., told the Board that he is looking for a new principal within the Township school system as well as outside.

Mr. Perkins has been principal of Community Park since it opened last September and was principal of Johnson Park School from 1960 until he was named to the Community Park post.

He has been particularly active in science education, and in the establishment of the nature-study conservation area at Johnson Park.

A logistical problem as complex as any faced by a military expert has been solved by Dr. McKenna and the Board. They will move three first grades, one kindergarten and the younger educable class from Community Park to Valley Road School next year, storing them in Community Park until the addition to Riverside is opened in September, 1964.

Classes will end at 2:40 p.m. at Community Park next year so that teaching teams can use the last period of the day to coordinate their work.

It will be a long week-end for Township children next week, with a holiday on Thursday (Memorial Day) and on Friday, as well. The Township has one left-over snow day to use up.

THREE ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Three Princeton area drivers were fined Monday for careless driving by acting magistrate Lawrence H. Caruso, attorney for Princeton University.

They are: Allen T. Wood, 20, 35 Maple Street, $45; Daniel P. Corvino, 18, 131 Jefferson Road, $10; and Jack P. Arceco, Jr., 20, Springhill Road, Skillman, $20. All pleaded guilty.

Miss Helen D. Golden, 53, 8 W. Delaware Avenue, Pennington, paid a $10 fine for disregarding an officer's signal.

DILLEY TO REPORT

On Municipal Study. Robert V. Dilley, executive director of the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations, is expected to make his first public report to the people of Princeton next week.

Mr. Dilley, appointed by both mayors on April 2, said he would announce the names of approximately 50 Princeton residents who have volunteered to work on the various sub-committees that compose the core committee.

DELEGATES WILL REPORT

To Business Club. The executive board of the Princeton Business and Professional Women's Club will meet Monday at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Anne P. Dennen, 90 Jefferson Road.

Reports will be presented on the activities of the state convention of business women's clubs by delegates to the conference. Speakers will be Mrs. Helen Kraus, president, Mrs. Nina Harrison, treasurer, and Mrs. Ethel Yeoman, corresponding secretary.

Installation of officers for the coming year will be held and there will be discussion of the program for the club's monthly meeting in June. Miss Charlotte B. McCracken, second vice-president of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs, will preside at the installation ceremony.

BROWNIES ARE COMING!

To Tamarack. "Brownie Day," an annual event, will be celebrated this Saturday from 11 to 2 at Camp Tamarack, Autumn Hill Road.

All Brownie Scout Troops in the Princeton Girl Scout Council will be there for the celebration, and families and friends are invited to come, too.

A flag ceremony and opening exercises will be held at 11 a.m., and after the ceremony, Brownies and guests may tour the campsite and learn about troop camping and the day camp program offered by the Girl Scouts.

After lunch, there will be games and singing, led by Senior Scout Aides. In case of rain, the program will be held in the gymnasium at Miss Fine's School.

MAIL CALL!

For Montgomery Development. Mail delivery service will be provided to residents of Montgomery Park, a new development on Montgomery Road in Montgomery Township starting this Saturday.

Postmaster Harry F. Kolbert of the Skillman Post Office has announced that the extension of the Skillman route was approved by the regional post office in Philadelphia after several new residents asked for the service. The Montgomery Park residents had been receiving mail at Rocky Hill.

Anyone who wishes to take advantage of the new delivery service may apply at the Skillman Post Office, Hopewell 6-1420. Residents who wish service must put up a mailbox.

OFFICERS NAMED

By Republican Club. Richard Schoch has been elected president of the Republican Club of Princeton.

Other officers include Thomas Gopsill Jr., vice-president; Mrs. Lewis W. Hicks, second vice-president; Miss Sandra Jefferson, third vice-president; John L. Moore Jr., treasurer; and Mrs. T.B. Fisher, secretary.

On Spaghetti. Dining in Lucullan splendor on a dish from later Roman times (i.e., spaghetti), members and guests of the Latin Club of Princeton High School gathered Friday for their annual Roman Banquet.

Reclining on gym mats and dressed in sheet togas and tunics ranging from 72 by 103 twin size up to King size with fitted bottom, the guests ate from tables 15 inches high with no apparent difficulty.

Benay Abrams as Consul welcomed the guests, whose invitations had been written in Latin on scrolls. An entertainment committee under Glenn Johnson led group singing of popular songs, translated into Latin. There was also a skit, "Sounding Through the Centuries."

Laurie Bam was in charge of decorations; Susan Stone and Christy Love wrote the programs; Phoebe Lees served as chairman of the food committee, under the guidance of Miss Ruth Steiner of the Home Economics department.

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO

TOWN TOPICS, May 22, 1958: Wrong one for the road. "Take my car and scout the Yale-Dartmouth game in New Haven," said Princeton lacrosse coach Ferris Thomsen to manager John Farinholt. Farinholt had obediently climbed into brown '52 Chevrolet, taken keys from under sun visor, left for Connecticut. Simple? Not so very.

While the Princeton was merrily wheeling toward New Haven, F.E. Stives was unmercifully searching for his car — a brown '52 Chevy, that is. Not finding it, Stives had reported its disappearance to police, who sent out multi-state alarm for the "stolen" car.

Next day Farinholt, still merrily unaware and undetected, had returned from New Haven and driven car to Thomsen, who had taken one look and said, "No" — perhaps, "Oh, no." Near point of Farinholt's departure, of course, was Mr. Thomsen's tan '58 Chevy, keys under visor, parking ticket under wipers. Over in Princeton Junction was Mr. Stives, who appreciated the humor of the situation — and also the fact that the University was only too happy to reimburse him for the use of his car.

Among those who had attended the PCD fair the preceding weekend, was a boy who would have set Freudians a-twit. After getting the word "Mother" etched on one arm at the tattoo booth, he asked that a skull and crossbones be set directly beneath it.

"Desire Under the Elms", at the Playhouse, had proved to be an indifferent flick. TOWN TOPICS' reviewer had gone so far out on a limb in criticism, as a matter of fact, to suggest that writer, director and cast should go climb a tree for their clumsy job.

TEN YEARS AGO

TOWN TOPICS, May 21, 1953: A report from the New Jersey Poll showed that President Eisenhower, during his first few months in the White House, had racked up a dazzling success in the opinion of most local voters. Statewide approval over disapproval was 10 to 1 in the way he was doing his job.

From the Swedish Massage parlor came this weighty, sensible advice: "Do not be thy blubber's keeper."

A precipitous Pennsylvanian learned from Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro that too-rapid wheeling can be costly. After snubbing repeated summonses, he had had his license lifted. Finally arrested and brought to court, he was convicted of driving after the revocation, got slammed with fines of $125.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

TOWN TOPICS, May 20, 1948: The 14-year-old postoffice, with twice the number of employees and many times the amount of business it had when built, was bulging. Postmaster Stephen W. Margerum was looking for a new snub-curler station. But finding 3,000 square feet of space in a central location was, TOWN TOPICS remarked, akin to striking oil at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets. Ultimate solution, of course, turned out to be the acquisition of a former dairy headquarters down by the railroad station.

Despite a Spring which produced twice-normal precipitation, F.A. Hamman Inc., longtime Princeton greengrocer (by 1963 long gone from its Nassau Street location at the head of University Place), was advertising something cryptically known as "Raindrops," 19 cents the package, $2.15 a dozen.

MAY I HAVE A WORD WITH YOU ABOUT YOUR PERSONAL BANKING?

Because the Princeton Bank was founded over a century and a quarter ago, it has served many generations of Princetonians.

And during the passing of the years it came to be described as "the carriage trade bank".

We never objected to having the confidence of people with above average incomes and we never will.

But the Princeton Bank has become much more. Today it is truly everybody's Bank.

Banking services have been broadened along with the expansion of the Princeton area. There is now a Practical Banking service at the Princeton Bank for every man, woman and child of the greater Princeton community.

Business men and research organizations find many new and helpful services for them at the Princeton Bank. They appreciate the advantages to them of a Practical Banking outlook. So will you.

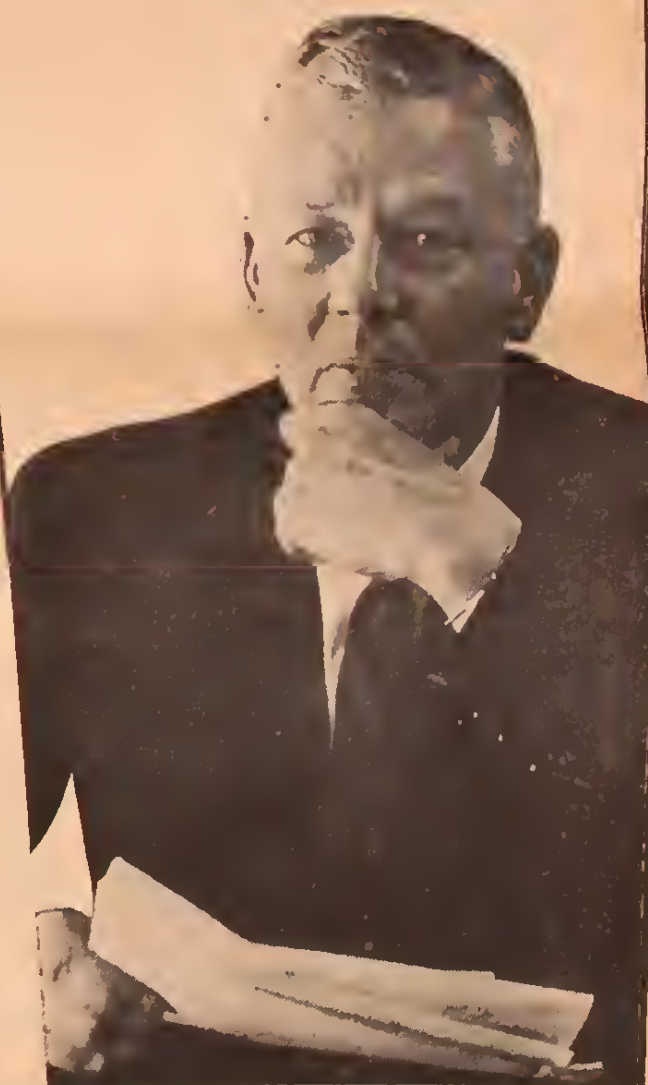

With many new services now available to you we invite you to visit any of the three convenient locations of the Princeton Bank and become better acquainted. We invite you to place your Personal Banking responsibilities in the Princeton Bank, where community confidence has been on deposit for over a hundred and twenty-eight years.

Our officers and service associates will be pleased to welcome you personally and assist you in every way.

CORRECTION

Abraham Seldner, 183 Grover Avenue, has been named alumni representative of Columbia College to Princeton High School. In the May 16 issue of TOWN TOPICS, he was erroneously given the title of associate director of admissions of Columbia.

Students at Central New Jersey secondary and preparatory schools, as well as Princeton High School, may contact Mr. Seldner for information on admissions, costs, financial aid and curriculum.

James E. Swaine, Jr., 147 Crestview Drive, is general manager of International Business Machines' supplies division, which has developed and just introduced to the market an ingenious combination of data-processing and microfilm equipment. The new system brings together two major information-handling techniques: the space-saving method of storing documents on microfilm and the ability to maintain and search files of documents quickly with data-processing machines.

The familiar IBM cards have been modified for this purpose by the insertion of film in one area of the card. Images of documents, such as design drawings, land titles, police records, insurance records and hospital x-rays, are then copied by photography on these "windows" of film in the cards, and the remainder of the card is used for punching in the data essential to locating the documented card by machine processing.

The IBM division of which Mr. Swaine is manager has also developed viewers and microfilm copiers for use with the new process. The headquarters of the division is at Dayton.

SCREENS REMOVED
No Storm Windows? The potential argument about screening Township windows exaprated Monday night as Township Committee passed a Housing Code without the offending "screen" clause.

Robert Dougherty, speaking for the real estate division of the Chamber of Commerce, said that he could imagine a centrally-air-conditioned modern home without any screens at all, and he suggested that the maximum $200 fine or 90 days in jail might be something of an unfair hardship to such a householder.

After approving amendments designed to smooth out some legal rough spots in the code, Committee passed the measure. It is essentially the
New Jersey State Housing
Code and it conforms to the Borough's code, now that those screens have been taken down.

Committee also revised zoning requirements in the so-called engineering zone—actually the research zone—liberalizing the setback requirements and establishing performance standards.

At the end of Monday's meeting, which ran to four hours plus, Mayor R. Kenneth

THEY AIM TO PRESERVE
Committee Named. Five Princeton residents were elec- ted last week to the committee that will organize a "Preserva- tion for Princeton" group.

Over 50 persons attended Tuesday's meeting in the First Presbyterian Church, drawn to the gathering by a common desire to save Princeton's ar- chitectural heritage. The group plans to make a survey of in- dividual structures and neigh- borhoods with historic, archi- tectural or aesthetic signifi- cance.

As an example of the kind of survey which might be made, the organization present- ed to the audience an "Historic Building Data Sheet" used by the National Trust for Historic Preservations, filled in for this occasion with a description of the First Presbyterian Church.

Rated for "architectural sig- nificance" and "physical con- ditions," First Church came out with a high score of 92.

Members of the organization committee are Mrs. Felton Gibbons and Mrs. Robert Greiff, who organized the group; Dr. Rudolf Clemen- president of the Princeton His- torical Society, Richard Hill- well of the University's depart- ment of art and archaeology, and Frederick English.

As part of the Borough's Sesquicentennial next fall, Preservation for Princeton will join with the Princeton Histor- ical Society to stage an exhibit of old and contemporary pho- tographs of Princeton build- ings.

EXPERIMENT ASKED: Dick Colman is one of eight Ivy coaches seeking use of unlimited substitutions in league games next fall.

SPORTS In Princeton

FOOTBALL IN THE NEWS

As Ivy Coaches Ask Change, The annual meeting of the Ivy League football coaches at Ithaca, N.Y., last week propelled the sport briefly into sports page headlines at a time when, in other years, spring practice meant an opportunity to evaluate the teams' chances for fall success.

Actually, it is the illogical ban on 20 days of work-outs at this time of year that precipitated the thinking of the coaches in suggesting a major experiment to their athletic directors. Their proposal is to permit a return to unlimited substitutions in Ivy League play during 1963, the policy to be adopted on a one-year, experimental basis.

At first glance, their eight-point statement supporting the request appears to be sufficiently logical as to stand hope of being accepted. Because a return to two platoons and the era of the specialists would simplify coaching and make for better football, it would in some measure assuage the loss of ability to practice in the spring.

Most football coaches in the country have sought a return to unlimited substitutions almost since the time their athletic directors voted sharp curbs on the policy a decade ago. The latter based their stand almost entirely on economics: two platoons (and therefore virtually four complete teams) meant a need for more athletic scholarships and, accordingly, for more coaches. With football budgets ballooning out of proportion, the men in charge of the purse strings changed the rules to make it impossible for so many players to see action.

Not so in Ivy League. Athletic scholarships in Ivy circles are almost non-existent. Financial assistance is never granted at the Big Three, for example, on a basis of athletic ability; present coaching staffs would remain unchanged if the substitution rule were liberalized for Ivy games.

Expectations are that the suggested experiment will be considered by the athletic directors in a telephone poll and an answer given the coaches within the next two or three weeks. Biggest stumbling block to an affirmative decision would seem to be the question of whether the eight colleges will wish to play outside NCAA jurisdiction for a season; that is, whether they feel they would attach to themselves a stigma of either aloofness or even of outright "revolt."

NCAA Bars Platooning. In another of the constant rules changes it has been tossing into the picture every 12 months the NCAA last winter barred unlimited substitutions when possession changes hands. This killed off the three-team system that a number of coaches, including Dartmouth's Bob Blackman, had used so successfully in 1962.

The Ivy Coaches' statement points out that "a vast majority of our fellow coaches favor a freer use of substitutes" and that the procedure they want would allow more boys to participate in intercollegiate football. They also advance these seven points:

- This rule will benefit the players by giving them a better opportunity to develop their individual skills and techniques under a program where practice time is sharply limited and the academic pressures are heavy.

- Better football will result through the opportunity to get the best use of the available personnel.

- Fewer serious injuries will result from a situation where the players will be fresher and stronger.

- The Ivy League Freshman, Junior Varsity and the 150 Lb. teams have played under a similar ruling for several years and this has proved highly popular and successful.

- Since the regular NCAA substitution rule will apply on all downs except when the ball changes hands, there will be no opportunity for a coach to call every play, nor will the plan pose any officiating or bookkeeping problems.

- The Ivy League coaches are unanimous in their opinion that this plan will not necessitate enlarged coaching staffs or traveling squads.

- Non-league games will be played under the official NCAA substitution rules unless our non-league opponents find it desirable to enter into this experiment.

With general agreement existing that such an experiment would not add to the major expense involved in supporting football at Ivy colleges, hopes are that the colleges will agree to the proposal. Better football played by more men is a logical goal to seek, without fear of doing so as a minority

Pick Dartmouth to Repeat

The team which went through the 1962 football season unbeaten is the choice to become the first to win two Ivy League championships in a row. Sports Information directors of the eight colleges, conducting their annual poll, named Dartmouth to finish on top again, followed by Harvard and Cornell.

The Indians and the Crimson each received four first-place votes. Princeton will do no better than fourth, according to the forecast, with Columbia topping the league's second division. Brown, Yale and Penn are picked as tail-enders.

On a basis of eight points for first place, seven for second and so on, these were the votes cast: Dartmouth, 60; Harvard, 54; Cornell, 46; Princeton, 41; Columbia, 34; Brown, 22; Yale, 17; and Penn, 14.

CREW THIRD IN SPRINTS

Five Shells in Finals. The best performance Princeton has given in the Eastern Sprint Championships in ten years was achieved Saturday at Worcester, Mass., when the varsity placed third in the heavyweight finals and five of the six Tiger shells qualified in the morning heats.

Cornell won the title as the first American crew across the line in the 2,000-meter event after the Ratzburg oarsmen of Germany. Princeton was two and a half lengths behind Cornell and a little less than a length back of Yale.

Brown and the Tigers were the surprise victors in the morning heat, displacing seeded Harvard and Penn, an outcome that ranked as a major upset. With powerful Cornell, Princeton was the only entrant to place all three of its heavyweight boats in the finals.

The Tigers finished sixth in the jayvee and freshman races, with the varsity lightweights coming in fifth and the freshmen third. Rowing activity is now at an end until the national regatta at Syracuse on June 15.

CORNELL DEFEATED

In Tennis and Track. One-sided triumphs over Cornell were recorded by Princeton tennis and track teams last week, although the season's first defeat for Herb Fitzgibbon, no. 1 man on John Conroy's racket squad, occurred in the 7-1 tennis triumph. The Tigers headed for Hanover Wednesday with intentions of wrapping up their third straight Eastern Association title.

Steady rain at Ithaca failed to hamper the track team's ability to win over Cornell for the second year in a row. Captain Pete Hoey took both the mile and the two-mile and Hugh MacMillan finished first in both sprints.

TIGERS NEAR TITLE

Need One Lacrosse Victory. A triumph over Cornell at Ithaca Saturday will give Princeton's lacrosse team its seventh consecutive Ivy League title. The Tigers assured themselves of at least a tie last weekend when they trounced Dartmouth, 17 to 4, before a sizeable gathering on Finney Field.

Five goals in each of the first two periods put the game beyond reach, with the victors holding a 10-3 margin at half-time. They stuffed seven more shots into the Indians' cage after the intermission, while a solid defensive effort pared the visitors' output to one tally.

Ernie Dreher's four goals paced the Princeton scoring, while Bob Kent was credited with five assists. Ferris Thomson's team gave one of its best performances of the season in defeating well-regarded Dartmouth and is not expected to run into a booby-trap at Ithaca.

TIGER NINE HOPEFUL

Of Deadlock for Title. It will take a Princeton victory this week over Dartmouth and an upset of first-place Navy by last-place Army on June 1, but the Tiger baseball team headed for Hanover Wednesday with the knowledge that it still had an outside shot at a share of its first Eastern League title in a decade.

Saturday's contest with Dartmouth was rained out, the team going no farther than Newark Airport before the postponement was advised by telephone from New Hampshire. Meanwhile, Cornell upset Columbia Sunday in a postponed affair at Ithaca, the 5-2 loss dropping the Lions out of first place.

Princeton was beaten last week by Manhattan, 7 to 5, as the victors scored on all four pitchers the Tigers used. A 350-foot home run over the right field fence by Blake Stafford marked the first time since Clarke Field became the site of Princeton baseball that a Tiger player has hit one out of the ball park.

PHS HEADS FOR HOME

Plays Final Three Games. The Princeton High School nine will play its final three contests of a 19-game schedule during the next six days.

The Blue and White will journey to Trenton High Thursday afternoon at 3:30 for a return bout with the Tornados. It will return for home games against Somerville the following day at 3:45 and for the finale against Hamilton on Tuesday. The Hamilton game will start at 3:30.

PHS coach Harry Zoll reported he sees no reason why his team should not finish these remaining games undefeated. Earlier, the Little Tigers upended THS, 8-4. They will be meeting Somerville and Hamilton for the first time. PHS is currently 8-7.

On Friday, PHS edged Hunterdon Central, 4-3, for its third straight victory. The win pushed the Blue and White over the 500 mark for the first time since its opener in early April. Until this streak, the Little Tigers had not won two games in a row this spring.

As it was, PHS got off to a very inauspicious start. The visitors from Hunterdon began as if they would more than atone for a lopsided 17-0 rout inflicted on them the week before.

fore by the same PHS nine. By the end of the first inning, Central had a 3-0 bulge.

Mike Durio's triple after PHS starter Dan Corvino had walked two men staked his team to a two-run margin. Durio then tallied the third run when he scored on an infield grounder. In the collision at home, Durio knocked the ball out of the hands of Princeton's catcher Paul Walstad.

Two Triples for Muni. The home team got one back in the second on a triple by Dave Muni and a Central error. It tied it up in the third on singles by Jim Case and Dave Shields, an error and Muni's second triple.

Shields' hit was his seventh consecutive single off Hunterdon pitching. In the first meeting between the two schools, he had rapped out five in five at bats. In his last at bat, Hunterdon finally got Dave swinging on a 3-2 pitch.

Meanwhile, Corvino had settled down to pitch one-hit ball for the next four innings. However, in the sixth, with one away, he walked the next batter and Zoll summoned Jack Rosso. Rosso struck out four in the inning and two-thirds he worked to gain his third victory. He has lost four.

Rosso won his own game in the sixth inning. After Tom Seulerati had walked, Rosso followed with a triple. It was the first hit of his high school career which spanned four years. Hunterdon got two on in the next and final inning but Rosso struck out the last two batters to end it.

CENTRAL JERSEY NEXT
Final Dual Meet Tuesday. The Princeton High School track team will travel to Asbury Park Saturday to participate in the annual Central Jersey Meet which is scheduled to start at 11. On Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, they will entertain Hamilton for their final dual meet of the season.

PHS coach Jerry Groniger reported he plans to take 18 to the Central meet. They are Larry Mueller, 100; John Kowalski, 220; Bill Aiken and Pete Heiberger, hurdles; Bruce Baxter, quarter-mile; Jim Norris, Hank Schmidt and Rosecoe Williams, half-mile; Jay Gallagher, William Feldman, Jim Stevens, mile; Jack Kelly, Jim Beachell and Pete Weber, javelin; George Smith, high jump; Art Brooks, broad jump; Jim McKeever, shot and Al Spencer, discus. Together, they represent the outstanding performers of the squad this year.

Competing against Group 3 schools last year in the event, PHS finished third behind North Plainfield and Somerville. According to Groniger, both schools are strongly represented again this year and he looks for the same order of finish. Two years ago, PHS surprised everyone, including Coach Win Niles, by capturing the Central meet—and rather easily, too.

Friday, the Little Tigers gave Trenton High Coach Shel Ehlinger some anxious moments. The visiting Trentonians were supposed to win this one in a walk. But, minus the services of two of its top runners, THS found itself trailing, 44-33, with only four events to go.

Field Events Decide. "Then the roof fell in on us," said Groniger. In the final events—shot, discus, pole vault and broad jump—Trenton swept first and second place in all four. That was good for 32 points, a 65-52 victory and a sixth win in seven dual meets. For the Little Tigers it was their third loss in a row and their sixth in eight dual meets. "It was a lot closer than we expected," said Groniger. "At one point we were 20 points ahead, but the field events killed us."

Of 13 events, the Blue and White captured five first-place finishes. The most clear-cut was Jay Gallagher's 150-yard edge in the mile. Not pressed, Jay ran the distance in 4:46, slower than the week before against Somerville when he ran 4:41.7 for second place.

Others include Jack Kelly, field captain for PHS, who continued his preeminence in the javelin; Hank Schmidt, the transplanted miler who notched another win in the half-mile; and Bill Aiken in the high hurdles and Pete Heiberger in the lows. Each also finished second to the other to give PHS a 1-2 finish in the high and low hurdles.

TWO REMAIN UNBEATEN

In Business League Softball, Two of the nine teams in the Business Softball League were unbeaten after the first fortnight's play. ETS, which topped the 1962 standings at the end of the regular season's play, and Columbian Carbon, were both 2-0 and will meet Tuesday for the first time this spring.

Educational Testing defeated Princeton Hospital, 9 to 4, as Bones Gilbert pitched his second victory. A home run by Joe Patrick with one aboard and three hits apiece for Fred Fritzky and Don Giovinazzo were the principal contributions on offense.

Dave Wallz hurled Columbian Carbon to a 14-8 triumph over EMH, aided by a four-for-four performance for Joe Golombeski and three-for-four by Carmen Armentis. For the Plainsboro entry, every notch in the victory column for the rest of the season will be pure velvet: its two wins to date equal its entire total for 1962.

Bob Barry's fine pitching paved the way to a 6-2 decision for Accelerator over Engineering Research. He had good support afield, while Joe McFadden and Dennis Shattis each collected a pair of hits. Ray Cole was three-for-three for ERC.

Cyanamid Wins First. After dropping its first two, American Cyanamid played good defensive ball to defeat Scientific Electronics, 10 to 5. Spencer Carter's left field chores were handled particularly well for the victors, with Bill Biache getting the victory. Ray Cervera paced the attack with a three-for-four performance.

RCA, the defending champion, lost a 16-15 go-round to Engineering Research as Don Musinski outlasted the other pitchers to pick up the victory. ERC was paced at the plate by Roger Cole, Ed Paulsen, Russ Morrone, Don Brobst and Don MacLusak, while Dave Richman, Dick Weiss and Max Hopkins were standouts for RCA.

HUN LOSES, 3-2

Pennington Takes Title. With the championship of the Penn-Jersey League riding on the outcome, Pennington defeated the visiting Hun School baseball team Friday, 3-2. Thus Pennington remained undefeated in league competition and raised its overall record to 8-1. Hun slipped to 6-3.

Pennington scored all its runs in the third inning on one hit. A walk and an infield hit ignited the rally. It flared when the usually reliable captain and first baseman for Hun, Alex Langel, let a hard-hit ball go through his legs, permitting a runner to score on a play at the plate.

other play at the plate and Pennington had two runs. The third and winning run came in on a routine infield out.

The losers outfit Pennington 7 to 3 for an edge that included two triples but they were unable to bunch them. In the second inning Hun took a one-run lead when Herman Penner singled home Greg Ganong who had tripled. Penner's fifth-inning triple scored Hun's other run.

With Penner stationed on third so tantalizingly close to the plate, Hun tried to squeeze him home with the tying run. Pennington, which played errorless ball throughout the game, was ready, however, and Penner was out at home. Sophomore Scott Page who went the distance, took the loss, his second against two wins.

Pingry Wins. It was a bad week for Hun all around. Entering the week with a fine 6-1 record, Hun started by absorbing a 13-6 thumping by Pingry on Wednesday. Assistant coach John Talbot called it "the worst game of the year for Hun."

Hun scored twice in the first on a two-run triple by Guy Wirsig, twice in the second on four walks and a single and twice in the fourth on three Pingry errors. But each time Pingry fought back. The victors tied it up with three unearned runs in the fifth and won it with a six-hit, six-run uprising in the sixth.

LARRIES SPLIT

In Baseball Competition. With two games remaining on the season, Lawrenceville's baseball team has a 5-8 won-lost record. The Larries beat Hill, 8-4, Friday after dropping a 4-3 contest to Peddie two days earlier.

The Red and Black picked up its fifth victory on a 12-hit attack highlighted by Roy Thomson's three-run homer. The Larries played Cathedral High Wednesday and will conclude their season against Peddie in an away game at Hightstown Saturday.

The lacrosse team picked up its fifth win against two losses with an 8-2 victory over Fair Lawn High last week. A Saturday contest with the Maplewood Lacrosse Club will wind up the season. The Larries played Peddie Wednesday.

Three Lawrenceville teams will conclude their seasons this week with state tournament competition. The strong track squad, which beat Hill last week, for a 7-1 record, will participate in the state meet Saturday.

The golf and tennis teams will compete in state tournaments scheduled to begin Wednesday. The tennis team beat the George and Hill Schools by identical 8-1 scores and finished its season against Blair Monday.

REEDER AND GOETZ WIN

In Sunday Sailing. John Reeder won the Penguin class racing staged by the Carnegie Sailing Club Sunday for the second week in a row, while Bill Goetz finished first in the GP-14 event. With Bob Ervein as crew, Reeder won one of the six races and compiled a point total of 434.

Other Penguin scores: Dexter Miller, 39.2; Bob Wilson, 36.3; Walt Foster, 23.0; Harry Cooke, 19.0; Murray Horvath, 5.0.

Goetz totaled 134 in the GP-14 series, with Rick Goetz as his crew. Other scores: Marsden Vanderwaart, 8.2, and Chet Stroup, 6.8.

PIRATES TAKE SLIM LEAD

In YMCA Midget League. Although there were a few "firsts" in the Princeton YMCA League last week, there was no notable churning among the leaders in both divisions.

In the American League, the league-leading Nassau Oil Tigers lost their first and the cellar-dwelling Laidlaw Senators won their first. Despite the defeat, the Tigers maintained a five-point lead over runner up First National Bank Indians. The Nassau Savings Athletics moved up to third place by posting surprising 10-4 and 8-0 victories over the Huit Yankees and the Nassau Fund Red Sox.

In the National League, the defending world champions

Since New Jersey is centered in the heart of the world's richest market, between New York and Philadelphia, its superhighways play a vital role in commerce and industry. These same modern highways make it easier for you to reach the famous New Jersey shore or lake lands for recreation. All together, there are more than 31 thousand miles of highways and roads in New Jersey, enough to span our country from coast to coast more than ten times!

Palmer Square Giants defeated the Plainsboro Lions Pirates in a free-swinging contest, 11-10.
But the Pirates, who have played one more than the Giants, clung to first place by one point.
The previously undefeated
Princeton Bank and Trust Company Phillies lost three games last week to skid to a 2-3 mark and fifth place. The League's only other undefeated team last week, the Princeton Savings Red Legs fared only slightly better. They dropped two of three, losing to the University Store Braves, 5-3, and to the Giants, who were aided by a triple play.

DEAR TRAVELERS:

So many people will be doing so many interesting things this summer!

For instance some people are going to take a RICHIE-LIEU Cruise. If you've never heard of one settle down and dream a minute.

You leave from Montreal — and if you've never been there you really should take time either before or after the cruise to explore around this historic old city — and travel up the mighty St. Lawrence river to the striking, breath-taking, sheer beauty of the Saguenay — the world's most amazing river. It's 600 feet deeper than the St. Lawrence at its mouth. Wild headlands and tumbling mountain-sides hem it in and reverberate thunderingly to the echoes of the ship's whistle. In places the mountains rise from the water's edge almost 2,000 feet. These are the famous Capes of Eternity and Trinity. You'll stop at various places along the way, get off the ship and explore around the cities and towns on your own. You'll also visit such famous vacation spots as Murray Bay, the Hotel Tadoussac and the Casino at the Manoir Richelieu.

The S. S. RICHIE-LIEU has outside rooms with windows (not portholes) and you'll sleep like a baby — under blankets while the cool river breezes renew your soul.

As ever,

Nancy

FUND DRIVE ON SUNDAY

At Dutch Neck Church, Seventy-five members of First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck will conduct a one-day campaign on Sunday for funds in support of three new buildings. Jesse Coleman, trustee, and Arthur Everett, a member of the session, are co-chairmen. According to the Rev. James S. Weaver, pastor, the congregation plans a two-story building and two one-story buildings on church property along Mill road immediately to the north of the church and cemetery.

The new units, designed by architect Richard Charlton, will include an administration building to house the church office, pastor's study and conference and library rooms. The other buildings will house the church school and a multi-purpose meeting room, with a complete kitchen adjoining.

The Dutch Neck church, founded about 1775, became an organized Presbyterian church in 1816. In 1882 the congregation built a church house which was remodeled in 1939. At the time of the remodeling, class enrollments totaled 200, a number now doubled.

The Rev. W. D. Kramer, of the board of National Missions United Presbyterian Church, is director of the fund campaign. Each family will be asked to give at least three percent of family income to the fund.

Obituaries

The Rev. Quilman F. Beckley, 72, first Roman Catholic chaplain assigned to Princeton University, died May 18 of post-operative pneumonia in Georgetown Hospital, Washington, D. C. He had been ill for several weeks.

Father Beckley served at the University from 1928 to 1952. Within a few years after his arrival, he was hailed by student editors for his "understanding of the religious and social needs of the students."

He served as commander of Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, a position to which he was unexpectedly elected while vacationing in Washington, D. C.

Born in Frederick, Md., and an alumnus of Catholic University, Father Beckley was ordained in the Dominican Order in 1915. In 1917, he became the first member of any religious order to be commissioned in the United States Navy, interrupting graduate work in the social sciences to accept a regular Navy post with the Atlantic Fleet.

Early in 1918, he requested a transfer to the Marines, serving in France with the Sixth Marines. Gassed and shell-shocked at Belleau Woods, and twice cited for bravery, Father Beckley recovered to complete his overseas duty at the Army's Paris headquarters. During the second war, when Princeton became a training center for the armed forces, he served as Auxiliary Chaplain.

Father Beckley led mission work in the Middle West and New England and held church assignments in Ohio and Tennessee prior to his transfer to Princeton. At the University, working from his rooms in 1907 House on University Place, he founded the Catholic Club, principal forerunner of the Aquinas Foundation. He conducted retreats throughout the east and lectured and taught at nearby institutions.

President Robert F. Goheen said of him this week, "During his many years as Catholic chaplain attached to Princeton University, Father Beckley was friend, informal preceptor and sage guide to countless Princeton students and faculty members, Catholic and non-Catholic alike. All who knew him cannot but feel loss at his passing."

Mrs. Ethel Voohees Maple, 74, of 720 Prospect Avenue, died in Princeton Hospital on May 21. She was the wife of Morris Maple, a painting contractor here for more than half a century.

Born in Millstone, Mrs. Maple had lived in Princeton for 50 years. She had been a Sunday School teacher in the Second Presbyterian Church and was otherwise active in church affairs. She was a past matron of Princeton Chapter 99, OES, and a charter member of the auxiliary of Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1.

In addition to her husband, she leaves a daughter, Miss Frances D. Maple, and a son, John V. Maple, both of Princeton.

The service will be held Thursday at 11 a.m. at the Kimble Funeral Home, with the Rev. Hugh F. Liffiton, pastor of the Second Church, officiating. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery.

O. Howard Smith Sr., 69, of Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, died May 18 in Middlesex Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Katherine Yantz Smith.

Mr. Smith was former mayor, committeeman, board of education member and registrar of vital statistics of South Brunswick Township. Born in Trenton and former resident of Kingston, he was a retired Pennsylvania Railroad agent. He was a Democrat and a member of Princeton Lodge 30 F & A M.

Also surviving are a son, O. Howard Smith Jr. of Cranbury; a daughter, Miss Ethel Smith at home; two sisters, Mrs. Eva Beckman of Franklin Park and Miss Ella Smith of Kingston; a brother, Charles C. Smith of Jackson, Mich., and two grandchildren.

The funeral was held in Cranbury, the Rev. John Maltby of the Miller Memorial Church, officiating. Interment was in Dayton Cemetery.

Mrs. Margaret V. Kennard, 65, of 5 Lytle Street died May 16 in Princeton Hospital after a long illness. She was the widow of Scott Kennard.

A native of Princeton, Mrs. Kennard was a Braille proof-reader for authors.

Surviving are a son, Carl Kennard of Nanticoke, Md., two grandchildren and several cousins.

The service was held at First Baptist Church, the Rev. O. D. McGowan officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Mildred S. Happe of 115 Knollwood Lane, Greenville, S. C., died May 18 in Greenville. The wife of Reynold Happe, and a native of Jersey City, she formerly lived at 294 Jefferson Road.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Irwin of Jersey City, and a son, John Happe of Los Angeles. The funeral and interment were in Greenville.

Mrs. Gilda Vergano, 76, died May 20 at her home on Spring Hill Road, Skillman. She was the widow of John Vergano.

Surviving are two sons, Camillo Vergano of Middlebush and Charles Vergano of Skillman; three brothers, Charles Zeppa of Weehawken and Joseph and Christopher Zeppa of Tyler, Texas; a sister in Italy, two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Wednesday in Hopewell, followed by requiem high mass at St. Alphonsus Church. Interment was in the parish cemetery.

This weekend at Springdale the 21st annual Member-Guest Tournament will be held, with 18 holes of match play against par scheduled for both Saturday and Sunday. In addition, the club is holding a dinner-dance at the Nassau Inn on Saturday and a buffet luncheon at the clubhouse on Sunday. Forty-one teams are signed up to play in the tournament.

PHS NINE LOSES, 7-3

To Notre Dame High, Princeton High School's baseball team managed to score three runs on three hits Tuesday but it was also guilty of five errors. The result was a 7-3 loss to Notre Dame High to bring the Little Tigers back even with the .500 mark at 0-8.

Four of the losers' misplays occurred in the first inning, sending Notre Dame off to a 3-0 lead. PHS drew even in the fourth, two of the runs riding home on Dave Shields' triple and Tom Sculerati's single then driving him home.

A single tally for the visitors in the fifth was followed by a three-run homer that wrapped up the decision. Jack Rosso was the losing pitcher.

FINE FOR A STARTER. This 9 year old, 3 bdrm house lies in the pretty, well-landscaped grounds, partly fenced

Person To Person

We read about a major breakthrough in fire fighting, apparently the most important advance in this field in almost fifty years. It was developed and perfected by U. S. Navy scientists at the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, and represents 20 years of Navy research. This revolutionary fire extinguishing chemical is known as "Purple K Powder." It is potassium bicarbonate, and is expected to replace the old bicarbonate of soda used for so many years in fire extinguishers. The most important factor is the powder's ability to reduce the amount of heat, enabling the fire fighters to move closer to the fire. It is inexpensive and nontoxic, and can be used in conventional extinguishers. As you know, our specialty is "headache fighting" for automobile owners, and in this role we are even more effective than this new fire fighter in its field. When you buy your car from us, our facilities, trained specialists, and true concern for your welfare, add up to a comprehensive guaranty against all possible car purchase and maintenance trouble. Come see the remarkable offer you can get here right now! Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co. Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

THE TREES STAYED... AND SO WILL YOU!

When these lovely homes were built in Lawrence Township . . . the trees stayed. Hundreds of towering oaks and pines, majestic hickories and flowering dogwoods. one mile to the new Lawrenceville Shopping Center. Ten minutes from Princeton and Trenton.

This perfect site attracted one of the finest custom home builders of Princeton. He is building these 33 homes with the quality and luxury features that are his trademark. Come out today. You'll stay!
